

OCCLUSION 911: PLEASE STATE THE NATURE OF YOUR EMERGENCY

May 21 - 22, 2021

Identify An Occlusal Emergency

Failure visits our practices in many forms and on many materials. While our restorations are at risk, so are our reputations as clinicians. In this program we will explore the forces that threaten our success and what options we have to address them. The program will be a journey in and out of the confusion that we have believed and applied as a profession-what worked, what didn't and why.

The fundamentals and theory of occlusion will be discussed but also supported with real world applications and case examples. If you are a one tooth dentist looking to be a two tooth dentist...if you are a few teeth dentist and want to be a quadrant dentist...if you are a quadrant, arch or already doing full mouth rehabilitations-our goal is to help make you a better dentist tomorrow.

Learning Objectives

At the completion of this course, participants will be able to:

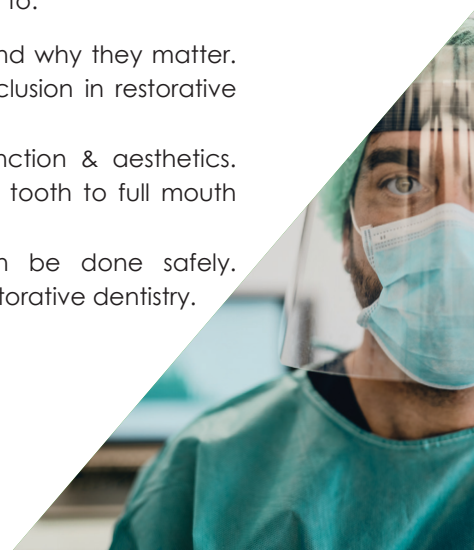

- Learn to recognize critical parafunctional red flags and why they matter.
- Recognize foundational concepts & rationals for occlusion in restorative care.
- Appreciate the balance between function, parafunction & aesthetics.
- Learn protocols for evaluation and delivery of single tooth to full mouth restorative dentistry.
- Learn when, why & how phasing treatment can be done safely.
- Learn realistic management of destructive forces in restorative dentistry.
